United Way of R.I.'s Young Leaders Circle meets with public officials

Some 70 members of United Way of Rhode Island's Young Leaders Circle gathered at the NYLO Providence hotel in Warwick on Monday, May 11, to meet with representatives of local, state and federal government. The event was the first of its kind for the Young Leader's Circle. From left, Cranston's Paola Fernandez, UWRI's public policy coordinator, poses with the evening's panelists State Rep. Ed Pacheco, Cranston Mayor Allan Fung and Joy Fox, Congressman James Langevin's director of communications and community outreach. For more information on the Young Leaders Circle and how to join visit www.LIVEUNITEDri.org.

UWRI's Young Leadership Circle

To engage young Rhode Islanders in creating positive impact in our community through education, volunteering and philanthropy.

About United Way of Rhode Island

United Way of Rhode Island has been working to improve the quality of life in Rhode Island communities for over 80 years. UWRI's mission is to mobilize the caring power of the community to improve the lives of people in need and address the issues Rhode Islanders care most about. United Way's goal is to create long-lasting changes that prevent problems from happening in the first place. We believe that all Rhode Islanders deserve the opportunity to have a better life, as when any one of us succeeds, we all succeed. At United Way, we refer to this as advancing the common good.
